

Dr. Andrea Lyons received her bachelor's degree from the University of Connecticut in Storrs. She then moved to Philadelphia where she attended Medical College of Pennsylvania and received her medical degree. Dr. Lyons' postgraduate training in diagnostic radiology took her to Brooklyn, New York and was completed at the State University of New York, Health Science Center. She concluded her training with a body MRI fellowship from Yale-New Haven Hospital in New Haven, CT.

Dr. Lyons has over 20 years of radiology experience with an emphasis in body and breast imaging. One of her top priorities is to provide the best care available to the communities we serve.

Dr. Lyons is excited to be in Colorado and be able to spend more time with her young adult daughters. She is also looking forward to experiencing the gorgeous Colorado outdoors.
